

Application for loan and grant due to reduced functional ability summer of 2023

Not applicable to applicants for further education with youth entitlement

Who is entitled to receive loan and grant for the summer?

The application applies to applicants who, due to reduced functional ability, are unable to take on salaried employment during the summer holiday (16.06.2023–15.08.2023), but who are able to study and prepare themselves for the next semester. Salaried employment means all employment where the salary is taxable. This also applies to applicants who earn less than the limit for an exemption card. Exception: Applicants who hold honorary positions while they are studying are entitled to loan and grant for the summer regardless of whether they receive taxable fees or salaries from the position. The scheme also applies to applicants who because of physical disability require necessary modifications in the workplace, and thus have difficulties securing a summer job. It is sufficient that one of these conditions applies to the applicant.

A doctor, specialist or other professional with particular knowledge of the reduced functional ability is required to confirm the application details. An assessment of the applicant's functional ability and how that may affect his/her ability to work during the summer 2023 must be performed. A condition for receiving a grant and loan during the summer is that the applicant has been attending a course during the spring semester of 2023 and will continue studying in autumn 2023.
